WESLEYAN COMES LAST.

BEATEN BY THE PENNSYLVANIA MEN. E ROUGH GAME OF FOOTBALL AT THE POLO

GROUNDS-SCORE 18 TO 6. seemed to be the general belief of unprejudiced ctators after the University of Pennsylvania football team had defeated the Wesleyan players yester-day afternoon at the Polo Grounds that it was the roughest, most reckless, dangerous and unskilful game which has been played here for several years. The game was an exhibition of how much twenty-two vigorous young athletes will endure for the pame and fame of their college, of what unskilful football players will risk and of weak umpiring. Yet there was some scientific playing, enough to relieve the rough features of the game in some degree, but never enough to conceal the true character of the play. Pennsylvania won by a score of 18 to 6, and the Quakers owe their success largely to their half-

Unfortunately there was considerable unfair playing and "slugging." It is hard to say which side began it. Only one man was disqualified when there should have been half a dozen. Perhaps the roughness exaggera'ed the "slugging" features, but the umpire was deficient in his work. This is the last game of the Intercollegiate Football Association and puts Wesleyan in the last place. The day was moist and chilly. A little drizzle now and then inconvenienced the 2,500 spectators in the early part of the game, but there was so much excitement during the game that floods might have descended without troubling the players and their backers. Wesleyan had the kick-off and the west end of the field. Walter C. Camp was referee and R. Hodge umpire. The two elevens took their places at 2:30, playing as

Clark took Manchester's place after the latter was ured. Wesleyan tried the "V" tactics, but in a ond the two rush lines were tangled into a pyramid of squirming, pushing, banging, belting mass of bodies with waving arms and hicking legs. The Quakers were the stronger and they forced the ball. Hulme and Colleday made splendid dashes around the rush lines, gaining ground steadily. Opdyke made wild and his side kept losing ground. But in justice to him it should be said that Eggleston, the regular quarter-back on the Wesleyan team, was ill, and Opdyke was a green hand. The ball was forced nearly Wesleyan's 10-yard line, when Hill punted it over. Slayback slipped and sprawled in the mud, while Ziegler and Cash threw themselves headlong on the ball. Ziegler got it and Pennsylvania howled: "Hurrah! hurrah! hurrah! hurrah! Pennsylvania!" Hill kicked a goal, making the score 6 to nothing for Pennsylvania.

Back in the middle of the field it was nip and tuck. The rushers threw each other around like bags of sand. downed the half-backs as if they were so much old clothes, piled up on top of each other as if they had lost sight of the football and intended to. Again and again men pulled their opponents off squirming heaps again need players. One rusher shoved another man's face in the mud and sat on him. Another man hit his opposite square in the back of the head. Crane and Sypher "squared oil" once. Crane's nose bled profusely from a blow he received in a scrimage. McDonald's face was generally damaged, but he played like a Texas steer. Wagenhurst, Princeton's old cap-tain, who had played a splendid game, was laid up. McDonald was smashed up several times from his terrific charges, and in all, a muddler or more demoral ized set of football players have not been seen for some

In the second three-quarters, Slayback, Clark and McDonald kicked and ran magnificently. Clark kicked a long drive, Floy put himself "on sides," passed the ball to Slayback, who darted through the Pennsylvania rushers and made a touch-down, from which Clark kicked a goal. The University men braced up. and Cash, a genuine Yale player, made another touch-down. No goal was hicked. Opdyke was sent off the field for kicking a man, but he tells the remarkable story that he did it because a Pennsylvania man was digging his cibow into the ear of a Wesleyau man he had downed. Gardiner was injured after this touchdowned. Calciner was injured after this four-down, and his place was taken by a substitute. Hulme and Colleday kept dashing around the rush-lines, and in a short time fluime darted through a mass of Wesleyan men as well as ever Beecher, of Yale, did. A goal from this and a safety touch-down by Slayback made the score 18 to 6.

In addition to the students from Lehigh and Cornell large delegations of men from Yale, Union and Columbia were present. Tally-ho coaches, filled with men belonging to the different fraternities, rattled through the streets. During this half Cornell had one clear opportunity to kick a goal, but the referee decided that the ball was not in play. During the game two Lehigh men were disqualified for "sluggling." The best playing for Cornell was done by McDowell, and for Lehigh by Dougherty. At the close Cornell claimed to have wen the game by 6-4, and entered a protest. BOSS BREWERS AND THEIR MEN THANKFUL. The breweries were all closed yesterday and for the boss brewers it was truly a day for thankfulness that the threatened lockout proved such a farce.
